Bike-A-Thon Thank You

In this advanced age of technology and skill it is impossible to udnerstand how such a deadly and almost common illness, such as cancer, has no definite cure. This disease is totally unpredictable in its victims with little concern for its prey. How is it that we have let it get this far in its conquest?

A group of people took a bike ride last Sunday, Oct. 21, that went 10 miles. They had a beautiful day, good food, and a great time. They rode in the Appomattox American Cancer Society Bike-A-Thon. The people who rode, and the people who sponsored riders shall never be fully repaid or thanked until there is a sure cure for cancer.

I wish next year there would be no Bike-A-Thon because there was no cancer that needed curing. Maybe it'll happen and if it's not next year, maybe the year after that. But until then, ten miles on Sunday seems trivial when thinking of what it might mean.

Thanks are given to the Appomattox Unit of the American Cancer Society, the Appomattox County Rescue Squad and police department, and those people who gave refreshments. To those people who sponsored riders, thank you, too. And keep hoping always for the biggest thank you of all - the cure for cancer.

Alumni Game Won By Evens

The third annual alumni football game, for the benefit of the A.C.H.S. athletic fund, was held Friday night with the Evens defeating the Odds 13-10 before a disappointing number of fans, approximately 400.

Those who attended could relive some moments from the past with Bobby Lane taking to the air, "BooBoo" Trent grinding out yardage, Bill Austin making unbelievable catches, Glen Doss showing speed, and outstanding defense by Lee Conner, Steve Lawson, Tommy Bass, Steve Almond, Earl Martin and many others.

The Odds grabbed an early lead when Tommy Bass tackeled an Evens ball carrier in his own end zone for a safety in the first period. The Odds had taken the opening kick-off and marched down the field, only to be stopped at the one yard line on a good defensive effort by the Evens. In the second quarter, Lane threw to Austin who, caught the ball between two defenders at the 10 yard line and took the pigskin into the end zone for a TD. The Odds led at halftime 10-0.

Early in the third period Glen Doss broke through the Odds line and picked his way down field through the secondary for 55 yards and the Evens first score. The PAT attempt was no good.

Then midway through the third quarter, with the Evens in possession, Doss took a handoff and headed for the goal some sixty yards away. Officials awarded Doss a touchdown after ruling that sideline interference prevented him from scoring on the play, and after a successful PAT, the Evens held on to win 13 - 10.

Odds	2	8	0	10
Evens	0	0	13	0 - 13
